Sleepy Hollow Clubhouse Events

First Summer Social of the Year

The SHHA has been busy planning several fun community events for the Summer. Our first Summer Social will be on Friday, June 7th, 6:00-9:00 p.m. at the SHHA Community Center. We will have food, beverages, and music for all!

This is a great family friendly event and an opportunity to reconnect with friends and neighbors and meet NEW families and individuals in our community.

SHHA Membership Update

Memberships in Sleepy Hollow Homes Association keep Sleepy Hollow working, speaking, and playing for the benefit and enjoyment of residents of all ages. Thank you to all of you who have already paid SHHA 2019 dues. Now is the time to renew or join the SHHA and know that you are helping the community we all enjoy. If you have not received one of the email reminders, you can join online at www.shha.org or mail your check to SHHA, 1317 Butterfield Road. SHHA annual dues are $270, $235 for seniors 65+. Residents can add a Community Pool membership for just $250, $200 for seniors. We encourage everyone to visit the site to refresh your sense of the benefits to you and to the community when you join the SHHA. Please contact Spencer Adams with questions at SHHAwebsite@gmail.com.

Community Pool News

Welcome Sophie Waldron, returning for her second year of managing the summer pool staff. Sophie is completing the life guard roster and we are pleased to have Anna Bauer, Anna Wooster, and Bella Moynihan as Head Guards this year. This is great leadership and the entire team will be strong on safety and working with kids. Adult lap swim Sundays are 10am - 1pm, April 28 through May 19. Family swim opens weekends May 25 and weekdays June 14.

MAAquatics, Inc. will be offering lessons for ages 4 and up starting June 18. Email Sleepy-HollowSwimLessons@gmail.com or visit www.MAAquatics.com. You will be able to contact Sophie at the pool if you are thinking of swim lessons for toddlers under 4. We begin pre-season lap swim Sundays, April 28 - May 19, 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., and the pool opens for family swim on May 25.

Community Center Re-Build – Give Where You Live

The Sleepy Hollow Charitable

continues to receive gifts and pledges for the community center rebuild toward an amount sufficient to begin construction, thank you! The SHHA has undertaken a reassessment of potential to reduce costs and still satisfy and delight our wonderful donors and the community and the SHFPD, with less reliance on debt and less additional fundraising required. This parallel effort seems the best use of time on our path to get the best for Sleepy Hollow with less risk and without undue further delay.

We are very fortunate to have a strong team of community volunteers and a small budget for special engineering input, to lead the feasibility, scoping, and cost estimating of concepts. As the ability to reduce costs and a sense of the timing and what we can produce for a lower cost become clearer over the next six weeks, we will be keeping donors, lenders, and the community aware, and will engage the community around priority uses and appetite for support from more residents. In the mean time, the Swim Team is able to have its home meets at home, and we plan to have the locker rooms open throughout the swim season.

News & Notes from Supervisor Katie Rice

Your Car. Your Choice. Our Future.

You see them here, there, and almost everywhere. They come in all different shapes and sizes and colors. There are nearly 6000 in Marin alone, and more appearing every day. To the casual observer, they are virtually indistinguishable from their carbon-belching brethren. But they could not be more different and that difference is the key to our ability to reverse climate change. They are EVs: automobiles that run on electricity. And when that electricity is clean, renewable energy like we have here in Marin, EVs are 100% emission free.

We know that in order to combat climate change we must dramatically reduce our greenhouse gas emissions (GHG), and that the two single biggest emitters of GHGs (and most specifically CO2) are transportation and energy creation. California (with Marin County leading) is well on its way to transitioning the power grid to renewables. But we are behind when it comes to our transportation emissions.

Nationwide, approximately 50% of our carbon emissions come from transportation. The same holds true for Marin County. At least 50% of our collective (and individual) carbon emission footprint comes from us driving around in our petroleum dependent combustion engine cars. And every new car on the road, be it gas or electric, whether driven by one or a series of owners, will be on the road for an average of 12 years.

Meeting the challenge of climate change requires that we take action at all levels, in the public sector and private sector, as individuals, as a community, as society as a whole. Every single person has a role to play and a responsibility to act. Indeed, the actions we take today will determine our children's tomorrow.

So what is the one single action, the most powerful action we as individuals can take to address climate change? You guessed it. Make sure your next car (if you even need one!) is an EV. You'll never regret it, in fact, you'll probably wish you'd made the "switch" sooner....

I made the switch last fall. Instead of buying, I decided to lease my first EV— a Chevrolet Bolt. It's a three-year lease. I put down $6,000; I got an $800 rebate from PG&E and a $2500 rebate from the state of California. My payments are $240/month. I drive 800 to 1,000 miles per month, and am spending about $20/month charging my car. My Bolt is averaging 200 to 230 miles per full charge. I charge up at home, plugging into an existing, standard 120kWh outlet in my carport, which adds about 30 miles of charge overnight or I plug in at work where there are "level two" chargers and "top off" my "tank" while my car waits for me to get out of a meeting.

Driving an electric car is fun (they are quite zippy), saves money, time, reduces my carbon footprint by half, and relieves my GHG guilt tenfold! The intangible: There is something amazing about driving down the freeway clean and green. For the past 43 years (my driving lifetime) I was burning a gallon of gas a day, 10 gallons a week, of noxious, polluting, climate change inducing gasoline. But no longer. And you too can drive clean.

On average, Marin residents drive about 27 miles a day. Most EV's available today get anywhere from 80 to 350 miles from a full charge. And it's not just Teslas and Smart cars out there anymore. Most major auto manufacturers have at least one fully electric model on the market today including: Chevy, Nissan, BMW, Hondas, VW, Ford, Kia, Hyundai, Audi, Jaguar and more. And coming soon, look for fully electric trucks, luxury model Porches and Mercedes Benz, as well as Mini, etc. — all with 200 miles plus range, and prices competitive with their oil dependent competition.

Yes, clean, quiet, powerful pollution free transportation is here – in a variety of models, at price points and with driving range that meets nearly everyone's needs. Make your next car (if you need one at all) an EV. The sooner the better. You won't regret it. For more information about what's on the market, what's coming, about charging at home, rebates and incentives, about every-thing EV, go to www.drivecleanmarin.org.

Creek Care 101!

Thanks to everyone's diligence, the Sleepy Hollow Creek and adjacent waterways held up quite well during this year's rainy season. Now that the rains are behind us, it's time to take stock of your property's creeks and waterways so that we can address areas of concern (bank erosion, fallen trees/branches and other obstacles) during the dry months ahead.

In support of our collective efforts, the SHHA creek committee will include FAQs in the next few bulletins. This issue focuses on homeowner's responsibilities; future issues will focus on creek maintenance best practices and ways to protect your streambank. For more information, check out Marin Resource Conservation District's Creek Maintenance Guide at http://www.marinrcd.org/wp/wp-content/uploads/2018/01/Stream-Maintenance-Guide_2018.pdf. If you have any specific questions that you'd like for us to address in future bulletins, please contact Eric Riemer at eric_riemer@comcast.net,

Homeowner Responsibilities

• Am I responsible for the care and cleaning of the creek in my yard?

Yes! CA Civil Code Section 830 says in summary: homeowners are responsible for creek care, bordering a non-navigable stream where there is no tide, from the middle of the stream channel to their creek bank or to both banks if they own both sides of the creek. In addition, Marin County Code Title 11, Chapter 11.08 requires property owners to keep all watercourses (creeks, gutters, drainage ditches, etc.) on their property free of obstructions. This includes human-made as well as natural drainage areas and means keeping them clear of debris, yard waste, duces less carbon than buying and driving a new EV – (including manufacturing emissions)!

Fact: Manufacturing and driving an EV produces less, much less carbon than continuing to drive your gas car. Even a Prius pollutes 60% more carbon than a fully electric EV.

SHHA Minutes, April 4, 2019

Call to Order: 8:08 p.m,

Directors attending: Pete Mayer, Matt Testa, Spencer Adams, Jan Blackford, Scott Hintergardt, President Presiding, Cathy Sarkisian, Ann Wagner, and Francois Hedouin by phone. Visiting: Dan Clark.

San Domenico Transportation Management Plan Update. Scott reported that after study by the standing committee (Scott, Jan, David Swaim, Dan Clark), a draft response to the proposal presented by the school at the March SHHA board meeting was given to the school, with a cover letter explaining that this draft has not been reviewed by the full SHHA Board and would be reviewed at the April 4 meeting. Although the school appreciated the effort that went into the draft response, they are asking for further discussion in multiple areas, which we will pursue after this evening's full review by the SHHA board.

The review and discussion covered our draft proposal and the school's initial response. Directors generally agreed that the draft response does represent the key concerns of the community as we understand them to this point, notably concern for safety on Butterfield at all times and especially in the morning and after school peak periods when children are walking and biking to school, respect for quiet evenings, suitable penalties that motivate compliance and cooperation, and a limitation on large events, especially those that generate evening traffic.

Directors suggested that in next conversations with the school we try to be more effective in explaining key concerns as noted above, and the importance to us of understanding the potential increase in San Domenico generated traffic from historical actuals to proposed limits, as that is the impact the community will experience. We do understand that the school has been aggressively managing its vehicle counts to be sure of avoiding violations, and feel that the margin for easing that management to meet school needs is substantial.

We discussed the potential to consider more flexibility in areas such as monitoring and auditing, and evening outbound traffic which have all along been important to the school. And to listen and think further about penalties, weekend traffic, and the roll of special events in transportation management. We should ask the school to prioritize its concerns so that we can focus on those areas to seek mutual understanding and agreement. Directors also expressed a strong desire to collaborate with the school on traffic safety, special events from time to time, and ways to reduce uncertainty about community use. Although the focus has been on the details of limits, penalties, and mutual agreements around traffic safety, other aspects of the current TMP including noise, access to trails, no change in enrollment cap, etc., should be included in a new plan or unchanged by any amendments.

There was further discussion about the potential to engage in some sort of pilot or trial period if we cannot reach a mutually suitable agreement to review with the community, and present to the County before the fall 2019 school term. The terms and goals of a pilot would also need to be agreed by the community, the school, and the County.

Scott will schedule a time when he and Jan can meet with Cecily Stock, and others as she may prefer, to discuss further as described above. Board members are encouraged to send any further thoughts about the school's proposal and our response. Our goal is to have a further draft proposal that brings the school and the community closer if not in agreement to review with the full board as soon as possible.

Membership Report: Spencer will circulate the latest numbers by email and will have a phone conference meeting with the membership team (Anne, Jan, Francois) next week. Focus will include pool memberships, which have a low renewal rate thus far, and encouragement to new residents and former members who have not yet renewed. Seniors who have long appreciated the importance of SHHA dues are once again leading the membership renewals.

brush, etc. "that may obstruct, divert, or interfere with the natural flow of water" on your property or if washed down-stream could create creating a blockage and flooding somewhere else.

• What if I'm not sure if an issue that needs addressing is on my property or not? Oftentimes, issues affecting the creek span property lines. If you are unclear whether you or a neighbor is responsible for an issue with the creek the best thing to do is to work directly with your neighbors. If you need further direction you can always reach out to the key watershed contacts listed below.

• What about permitting and regulations? According to the stream maintenance guide: "Most actions carried out within or near the creek channel will require a Creek Permit which can be obtained through Marin County's Department of Public Works, Land Development Division. To confirm whether you need a permit, contact them at 415-473-6549." The good news is that Marin County offers free monthly meetings where you can discuss your proposed actions in an informal setting. For more information contact Howard Bunce at hbunce@marincounty.org 415-473-3748 or visit http://www.marinrcd.org/wp/wp-content/uploads/2015/02/MPC_flyer_2016-1.pdf.

• Whom should I contact if I have questions about a potential issue with my creek or waterway? You can always start with Sleepy Hollow resident and Creek Committee volunteer, Eric Riemer, at eric_riemer@comcast.net or 415-748-4231.

Other key watershed contacts are:

• Marin County Flood Control: Bene Da Silva, BDaSilva@marincounty.org, 415-473-6538

• Marin County Stormwater Pollution Prevention Program: Howard Bunce, HBunce@marincounty.org, 415-473-3748

The spring selling season is here! Check out these stats for March:

New Listings: Seven new listings came on the market. (Two of those were on last year.)

Two Contingent: Facts: Of the seven new, two are already in contract: Both large homes on great lots, move-in condition with opportunity to improve.

Two Sold: Facts: One was a great fixer on a flat lot; it closed almost 8% over asking and received 5 offers. The winner was cash.

Goat Grazing 2019

By the Sleepy Hollow Fire Protection District

The goats are back. This year we will have three herds of 400 goats each creating fuel breaks and improving the land. Two herds are working on Marin County Open Space Land at the top of the Sleepy Hollow Terra Linda Divide. This area was chosen for an early start so that the goats could eat the non-native “goat grass” before it goes to seed. This helps to ensure that the non-native grass will not be inadvertently spread through goat manure.

At least one of these herds will move down hill to Terra Linda to create defensible space behind homes. The other herd will continue along the ridge to the Fox Lane area. The third herd is working in Jerry Russom Park off Lucas Valley Road. They are moving toward Terra Linda where they will also graze behind homes.

As the season progresses, we expect to graze a continuous fuel break along the west side of the Sleepy Hollow Terra Linda Divide including some areas that were not grazed last year. There will again be extensive grazing at the Rocking H Ranch and the San Domenico Campus eventually connecting with the Triple C Ranch. After the animals are finished at Triple C, they will graze a new area at the top of the ridge between Stuyvesant and West Oak Knoll Drive.

Grazing will also be done in Fairfax near White Hill School and the Oak Manor area as well as parts of Cascade Canyon. Work will take place in San Anselmo including parts of Sorrich Park and lower Red Hill.

Swim Team Keeps Clubhouse Clean! Sea Lions Meet Riptides May 4

Thank you Sea Lions for donating your time to help Sleepy Hollow Homes Association

(SHHA) keep the Clubhouse clean! Now we are ready for our first dual meet on 5/4 – hope to see you there!

The Swim Team's Clubhouse Clean-up on April 20 was a great success! Thank you to all of the wonderful swim team parents and swimmers who took several hours out of their Saturday to help SHHA keep the Clubhouse looking its best. We would especially like to thank Justin Hovey, Coach Mark and Steve Knox for helping us coordinate this clean-up!

It was so great to see so many of our swimmers competing at our practice swim meet on April 27th. After an impressive meet, we had a team barbeque and then our swimmers participated in some fun relays and pool games followed by a fantastic sampling of goodies from some of the best Sea Lion bakers!

Our first dual meet, against the Novato Riptides, will take place at the Clubhouse on May 4th. We have two more home meets in May – May 11th against the Lucas Valley Swim Team and May 18th against Swimarin. We hope many of you will come cheer on our team!

Eighth grade Sea Lions (many of whom have been on the team since they were very young) teach our youngest new swimmers the Sea Lion Cheer - a wonderful team tradition! Keep on kicking bootyakum!!
